

Congress is supposed to guard against monopoly power. But the upcoming rule change could change the landscape for all media and usher in an era in which a few corporations control our access to news and entertainment. I ask Congress and the FCC to support a diverse, competitive media landscape. The liberal mainstram media giants are too big as it is.